I support the satellite radio system. If other broadcasters and stations want to compete they need to reach the level of quality you get with satellite radio. I am normally not a radio listener. I got a satellite radio with a new truck that I bought. I started listening and now it is one of my favorite things to do. You don't have to put up with the constant advertisements and wordy DJ's. You just listen to music almost interruption free. Don't let these broadcasters hide behind the government. Get out there and compete. If you have a better product people will buy.
